Father, son share photography bug

By JESSICA JACOBSEN
jjacobsen@nwnewsgroup.com

ANTIOCH — There have been many great father-son combos: Brett and Bobby Hull, Dale and Dale Jr. Earnhardt, and now Ted and Don Foss.

No, Ted and Don are not professional athletes like the Hulls and Earnhardts, but the two are still etching, or rather photographing, their place as a memorable father-son team.

Ted, 70, and Don, 41, recently had their photographs put on display at the Lake Villa District Library as part of the Lake County Art League members exhibiting "On the Wall."

The photographs include floral studies and landscapes.

This father-son team got off to an early start. "My father, he started me off when I was 5 years old," Don said.

Ted, of Antioch, said at an early age Don would work as Ted's assistant.

But as Don got older and took his own photographs, Ted said, he found something he didn't like — the darkroom.

Ted joked that he doesn't like it either and there is no way he would do anyone else's darkroom work. So Don took a short break from photography, but with the invention of digital cameras that got the team up and running again.

"We've always been friends," Ted said. The two also were recently selected to each have three photographs at the Anderson Art Center in Kenosha, Wis.

Don, who lives in Wauconda, also loves working with his dad.

"It's great because we compliment each other ... it's a good working relationship," Don said.

Don has a 16-year-old son, but don't expect to see a father, son, grandfather team anytime soon.

"He's more into GameCube than photography," Don said.

More than a hunter

Ted's primary vocation was not always art oriented. He previously was a research chemist in printing ink and allied industries for most of his professional career.

ForeFronts, new beats and saying goodbye

It's that time of year again when we honor nine people in Lake County who make a difference. We have a fine group of folks represented this year, and you can find out more about them by turning to our special ForeFronts section that is within this paper.

We have switched up coverage areas in the seven papers we publish to help get more local news to you. Please feel free to contact the reporters who are now covering your town. Jessica Jacobsen is covering the Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst areas. Dani Schweigert is covering the Grayslake and Round Lake areas. Steve Peterson is covering the Fox Lake and Wauconda areas. And Yadira Sanchez Olson is covering the Gurnee and Wadsworth area. You can e-mail them story ideas and other thoughts at the following addresses:

Joe

• Jessica Jacobsen:
jjacobsen@nwnewsgroup.com
• Dani Schweigert:
dschweigert@nwnewsgroup.com
• Steve Peterson:
speterson@nwnewsgroup.com
• Yadira Sanchez Olson:
ysanchez@nwnewsgroup.com

Also, this week, we say goodbye to a local icon, former state Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis.

Geo-Karis, 89, died Feb. 10 from natural causes. Her wake, funeral service and luncheon drew hundreds to Adeline Jay Geo-Karis State Park in Zion.

Steve Peterson was there to write the story, and photographer Amanda Schwengel was there taking pictures. To read the story about her, please turn to our Lake County section on page 7A.

As always, I want to hear from you. I've already received e-mails responding to my columns and pointing out a few things that you would like to see change in your Journal. Keep on writing, friends. I can't wait to read more.

You can write to Joe Grace at jgrace@nwnewsgroup.com.

Ted Foss uses photography to help with paintings

From then on, Ted continued to photograph. He's done portraits, commercial (his favorite), landscapes, and much more.

Ted said their is a word that really sums up a photographer.

"A photographer is really a hunter," Ted said.

He said a photographer searches and searches for that right image and the artwork is done in like a 200th of a second.

Though Ted loves his "hunter" job, he found another art form he loves.

Not too long ago, Ted joined an art class.

Ted said he never thought he could paint, but wanted to try it anyway.

And now, he's been doing more painting lately than photographing.

Many paintings fill Ted and his wife, Joan's, Antioch home.

The paintings include portraits of his children, Don and Tia, a waterlily, and his own Mona Lisa called Giselle, after his dog. Ted wasn't kidding, Giselle's eyes follow you no matter where you go.

"Everyone has some kind of story," Ted said.

In fact all of Ted's paintings are done from his own photographs.

Ted also is going to have a short story of his called "The Trowel" published by the College of Lake County for Prairie

Ted Foss poses with his paintings and dog Giselle at his home in Antioch. Foss works with oil and acrylic paints and also works with photography.

Voices, a collection of student writing and art.

"I was really excited about that," Ted said.

But there is a deeper reason why Ted is so excited.

"Unfortunately, I'm going blind and that's why I started writing," he said. Ted suffers from macular degenera-

He found out three years ago. His right eye is fading.

"I'm doing everything with my eyes that I'm able to," he said.

And everything includes writing a screenplay and doing extensive traveling when the weather perks up.

>> InBrief

AmericaUnited Bank comes to Lake County

ANTIOCH - AmericaUnited Bank and Trust (AUBT), a family owned community bank headquartered in Schaumburg, has recently moved into Lake County after merging with First National Bank-Employee Owned (FNBO).

The merger, which was made official in November of 2007, brings together a group of banks that will be able to serve homes and businesses in the north and northwest suburbs of Chicago, as well as Wisconsin.

>> Corrections

A story in the Feb. 14 edition of the Lake County Journals titled "Lake County Art League members' work on display" said the Lake Villa District Library was in Lindenhurst. The library is in Lake Villa. We regret the error.

Accuracy is important to us at the Lake County Journals and we strive to correct mistakes promptly. If you believe a factual error has been published, please bring it to our attention. Call Joe Grace at 815-326-1734 or e-mail him at jgrace@nwnewsgroup.com.

Keeping you in the know

Hello, readers.

You might recognize my name. I have written some stories for the Lake County Journals since back in May 2006.

During my time at the Journals I have focused more on editing and designing the paper, but now I get a chance to write more about what is going on in the area.

I have lived in Lake County all of my life, except for a few pesky college years, and I hope that my tie to the communities will help me give you the news you need and want.

I try to do my best at finding stories I think readers will like, but I could always use a little help.

So if you have any story ideas, feel free to e-mail them to me at jjacobsen@nwnewsgroup.com and I will get back to you as soon as possible.

And don't worry, this column isn't just an introduction. I also have so important updates you might need.

Parents with a child who is getting ready to start kindergarten better get their forms in order. Registration for B.J. Hooper Elementary in Lindenhurst will be from 2:30 to 7:30 p.m. March 13.

Parents will need the following documents: an original, certified, government issued birth certificate; proof of residency (a gas or electric bill dated within 30 days showing location of service, or a property tax bill, or a current lease); fee payment (Visa and Mastercard are accepted).

Registration will be in the Hooper Office.

A child entering kindergarten must be 5 years old on or before Sept. 1, 2008, to register.

* If you have interesting information or anecdotes to submit for "Our Town," e-mail Jessica Jacobsen at jjacobsen@nwnewsgroup.com

Student deals with NIU aftermath

Lindenhurst resident recovers from shooting

By JESSICA JACOBSEN
jjacobsen@nwnewsgroup.com

DEKALB - "I never would think it would happen at NIU," said Patrick Korellis about the Feb. 14 shootings at Northern Illinois University in DeKalb.

Korellis, 22, of Lindenhurst was one of the students who was injured when Steven Kazmierczak opened fire on a lecture hall in Cole Hall, killing five students and himself.

Korellis was one of more than a dozen students who was injured that day.

Korellis said there were about 15 minutes left in class when Kazmierczak kicked the door open and headed to the front of the class and began shooting.

"I was just so scared," Korellis said.

Korellis, a senior, got to the floor and crawled toward the door. When he got near the door to open it, he said, a pellet hit his head and left arm.

"I'm fine now," Korellis said. Korellis said he did not know Kazmierczak.

He was released from Kishwaukee Community Hospital Feb. 15.

Korellis is majoring in meteorology and geography at NIU. He recently interned at WGN-TV with meteorologist Tom Skilling.

Even though Korellis is OK that doesn't stop him from thinking about five students who were killed.

"I pay all my respects to those who didn't make it," he said.

With it being Korellis' senior year, he wants to go back to school and finish but he is hesitant.

"I want to start, I just don't want to go back to the area where it happened," he said.

Where to Turn When Your Home Doesn't Sell

Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst - If your home has just come off the market and hasn't sold, don't be discouraged. The reason your home did not sell may have nothing to do with your home or the market. In reality, your home may have been one of the more desirable properties for sale.

So Why Didn't Your Home Sell?

Last year almost half of the homes listed for sale never sold at all, and many sellers found that there was a tremendous amount a homeowner needed to be educated on to sell their home for top dollar in the shortest time period.

Don't risk making the wrong choices and losing both time and money on your investment. Before you hire a realtor, know the right questions to ask to save you time and money.

Industry experts have prepared a free special report called "How to Sell a House that Didn't Sell" which educates you on the issues involved. To hear a brief recorded message about how to order your free copy of this report, call 1-800-597-1852 and enter ID# 5500. You can call anytime, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week or visit www.OurHouseDidNotSell.com

Request your free report now to make sure your home sells the next time you list it for sale.

The worry of parenthood

Once you become a parent, your life will never be the same. It is one of the first things a woman hears when she announces she is pregnant, and I think it is true.

Having children has definitely changed me – physically, emotionally and financially.

The truth is, we can go back to an old vacation spot we enjoyed before kids (if we can afford it) or have a weekend alone while the kids are at grandma's house, but it's never the same. We can't escape the worry, the ever-present nagging feeling that we are needed back home for things that only mom or dad can provide.

Parenthood brings out the strongest of our emotions, both good and bad. I love my children more than anything, but they can push my buttons like no one else. At times, I wish kids had buttons, too.

Namely, an off button, if just for me to have a quick nap!

My children are young, so I am still able to know where they are at all times. I am thankful for that, although I know it is fleeting. Sometimes I think I will need superhuman strength when the time comes to hold them close and then let them go, instead of just holding them close.

Spending sleepless nights worrying about our children's welfare might come with the territory for parents, but that doesn't lessen the magnitude of the responsibility we feel.

Being a parent means that when senseless tragedies happen, like the recent one at Northern Illinois University, besides being shocked and saddened, I felt more vulnerable and scared than I ever would have before I had kids. Not for myself, but for my children.

It is terrifying to think I can't always protect them from the cold place the world can be.

But if I weren't a parent, then I wouldn't be able to experience my 3-year-old taking my face in her hands and telling me she loves me, her eyes so big, round and serious. Or find special notes and pictures my boys sneak under my bedroom door as I work on the computer.

These are the things that complete my life.

Yes, our lives are never the same after we become parents and, many times, we might wonder whether we are strong enough for the challenges. But when I think of how my life would be without my kids, I wouldn't change a thing.

KeyLime Cove Water Resort to open Feb. 29

GURNEE – As the streets continue to pile with snow and temperatures seem to get lower and lower, it's hard not to wish you were on vacation in a tropical paradise, far away from the worry and stress of everyday life.

Soon, Lake County residents won't have to go far to experience that paradise, as KeyLime Cove Water Resort is set to open Feb. 29 in Gurnee.

"What KeyLime Cove is going to offer is a vacation escape in your own backyard," said Michelle Hoffman, director of marketing for the resort. "There's no need to travel north to go somewhere else. You truly feel like you've arrived in the Caribbean somewhere. It's new, it's exciting, and it's right here."

Patricia Faiz of Waukegan can't wait to stay at KeyLime Cove with her husband, Nouridine, and children Hakim, 10, and Adam, 4.

Although Patricia said she and her family don't have a reservation yet, she hopes to soon and added that she is glad the resort is coming to Lake County.

"We go to Wisconsin Dells in the winter, so, hopefully, we don't always have to go there now because [KeyLime Cove] is just 10 minutes from me," she said.

Hoffman said KeyLime Cove, which sits on 30 acres, will offer 414 resort-style suites and state-rooms, five restaurants, five stores and an 8,000-square-foot arcade with more than 120 games. But, she added, that's just the beginning.

KeyLime Cove also boasts a 65,000-square-foot water park with 12 water slides, four of which have parts that twist and wind outside as well as inside. The area will feature a lazy river, a pool to play volleyball and basketball, a kiddie pool and Toukie's Big Deluge, an interactive play structure with a pineapple dump bucket. A lounge area around the water park, as well as seating overlooking it, also will be available.

"It's nice and open and tropical," Hoffman said.

And the resort isn't just for kids, Hoffman said, as there will be plenty of entertainment for adults, too.

"When you ask mom, 'Have you been to a water park?,' she usually says, 'Oh yeah, I took my kids there, and they loved it,'" Hoffman said. "But when you ask her, 'Did you have a good time?,' she usually says, 'Well, my kids did.' We fill in that gap for mom and dad."

One hot spot adults might enjoy is the Crazy Toucan Margarita Grille. The Crazy Toucan is a colorful bar that will provide live entertainment. Hoffman said KeyLime Cove will provide in-room baby-sitting so parents can spend a night out.

But whether young or old, the atmosphere at KeyLime Cove is intoxicating, Hoffman said.

"You'll be overwhelmed by the authenticity when you first walk in," she said. "There's a water-craft airplane that looks like it's going to make a landing and a mural in the lobby."

Bright pinks, blues, yellows, greens and oranges fill the resort, creating the brilliant vibe of the Caribbean. The wall of the water park is a mural of a blue sky with puffy white clouds and a cruise ship docking.

"This is the first KeyLime Cove, and I'm very excited it's here in Gurnee," Hoffman said. "There are a lot of great attractions nearby."

One of those attractions is Six Flags Great America. Brooke Gabbert, public relations manager for Six Flags, said the theme park is happy to see the area expand.

"As a part of Lake County, we always look forward to new businesses coming to the area," she said. "It's always exciting."

>> OscarPredictions

A golden opportunity for stars to shine

By JEFFREY WESTHOFF
sidetracks@nwnewsgroup.com

Here are my thoughts and predictions for the six major categories at the Oscars:

Best Supporting Actor:

Good to see the academy recognize Hal Holbrook for his work in "Into the Wild" and Casey Affleck for "The Assassination of Jesse James by the Coward Robert Ford." Too bad they were nominated the same year. Javier Bardem played Anton Chigurh. Even though he is in the supporting actor race, Bardem dominated "No Country for Old Men" with his terrifying stare, making Chigurh the scariest and most memorable screen villain since Hannibal Lecter.

Should win: Bardem
Will win: Bardem

Best Supporting Actress:

Ruby Dee's appearance on this list proves that one great scene can land you a nomination. Dee's great scene comes near the end, when she slaps her gangster son (Denzel Washington) and tells him off. Dee just won the Screen Actors Guild award, so she might get the Oscar, too.

However, history shows that whenever an actress is nominated in both the lead and supporting categories, she wins the Oscar for her supporting role. That should lock it up for Blanchett's gender-bending performance as one of the Bob Dylan incarnations in "I'm Not There." Because I haven't seen that film or Amy Ryan's nominated performance in "Gone Baby Gone," I can't give a personal favorite in this category.

Should win: No vote

Will win: Blanchett

Best Actor:

Even before "There Will Be Blood" was released, the consensus was that Daniel Day-Lewis was certain to win the Oscar. He has won almost every preliminary award, so I won't argue with the likelihood, but his mimicry of director (and sometimes actor) John Huston got on my nerves. If I were voting, I would back Johnny Depp's tortured performance and strong singing as the title character in "Sweeney Todd: The Demon Barber of Fleet Street."

Should win: Depp
Will win: Day-Lewis

Best Actress:

Once again, we have a situation where common wisdom declared the sure winner - Julie Christie as the Alzheimer's patient in "Away From Her" - months ago. And Christie, too, has racked up the preliminary awards. She's the heavy favorite, but Marion Cotillard could pull an upset for her amazing transformation into Edith Piaf in "La Vie en Rose." My choice would be Laura Linney's bitterly comic performance as the not-quite-doomed accountant who dreams of being a novelist in "The Savages."

Should win: Linney
Will win: Christie

Best Director:

This is a tough category. Most of the critics and guild awards have gone to Joel and Ethan Coen for "No Country for Old Men," but they are iconoclasts and Oscars seldom honor iconoclasts. But Paul Thomas Anderson ("There Will Be Blood") and Julian Schnabel ("The Diving Bell and the Butterfly") are iconoclasts, too. Tony Gilroy ("Michael Clayton") and Jason Reitman ("Juno") don't have the long résumés the academy likes to honor. I think the academy award will go with the Coens to acknowledge this film and a shared career that stretches back to 1984's "Blood Simple." The Coens would be my choice as well.

Should win: Joel and Ethan Coen

Will win: Joel and Ethan Coen

Best Picture:

As long as academy voters pick "Atonement," "No Country for Old Men" or "There Will Be Blood," they will have made a better choice for best picture than they have in years.

Should win: "No Country for Old Men"

Will win: "Michael Clayton"

Gee's Bend' is pure gold

By TOM WITOM
thomaswitom@yahoo.com

"Gee's Bend," Elizabeth Gregory Wilder's latest play, tells a poignant story based on the hardship faced by the black women whose unique handmade quilts eventually put them and their tiny Alabama community, Gee's Bend, on the map. This finely-tuned 90-minute drama, performed without intermission in its Midwest premiere at Northlight Theatre, is under the direction of Chuck Smith.

An epic work, it starts in the late 1930s and follows its characters for some six decades, including the tumultuous 1960s, when the Civil Rights movement was ignited by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

It recounts how young Sadie (Charlette Speigner) leaves the family nest (basically her mother, Alice, and sister, Nella,) to marry Macon, a conservative cotton farmer. When Sadie boldly drinks from a "whites-only" water fountain in Camden, the town across the river from Gee's Bend, and her sister asks what it tastes like, Sadie says, "Like a little piece of heaven."

The national press discovers the quilts turned out by the local Gee's Bend women and, in 2002, their work was exhibited at fine arts museums in Houston and New York City.

give but what we know; our blood and tears are melted into the seams [of those quilts]," Sadie says.

The hard-working cast also includes Jacqueline Williams, the older sister blessed with a captivating singing voice and perverse sense of humor; Penelope Walker, in a dual role of Alice, the mother, and Asia, Sadie's daughter; and John Steven Crowley as Macon.

"Gee's Bend" has a compelling story to tell and succeeds admirably on all counts.

Prevent Children's Tooth Decay

(MS) - The American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry (AAPD) released information at the end of 2006 in regard to children's dental health and the use of "sippy" cups. The experts have stated that other than at mealtimes, no beverages other than water should be offered in toddler sippy cups. They indicated that prolonged exposure to sugary drinks from these cups is the leading cause of tooth decay among children ages 2 to 5. In fact, research shows that nearly one-third of toddlers with tooth-decay problems used sippy cups, notes the AAPD.

According to Dr. Philip H. Honke, AAPD president, "Sippy cups were created to help children transition from a bottle to drinking from a regular cup, but they're too often used for convenience because they reduce spills. When kids sip sugared beverages for extended periods, they are exposed to a higher risk of (tooth) decay."

The academy offers additional tools to help maintain healthy toddler teeth.

Frequent drinking from a sippy cup of any liquid other than water should be avoided. This even includes diluted beverages and milk.

Avoid sippy cups at naptime or bedtime unless they are filled with water.

At mealtimes, beverage consumption can be better monitored and other beverages are permitted. This is because while sitting at dinner a toddler is less likely to engage in the harmful "grazing" behavior that typically occurs when a filled sippy cup is on hand.

Sippy cups should not be a permanent fixture. They should be used merely as a transitional tool and greater emphasis should be placed on teaching children to drink from a regular cup.

Sideouts Bar & Eatery: Let the Good Times Roll

Sideouts Bar & Eatery is always packed when I drive by on weekends. Now I know why.

Sideouts offers a winning combination of good food and drink, along with live music and events.

Not only does Sideouts have a varied menu of appetizers, salads, sandwiches, pasta, ribs, and fish, but it also offers customers daily food and drink specials, like all-you-can-eat ribs for $10.95 on Saturdays.

I ordered one of their Friday specials: fresh baked tilapia, steamed broccoli, baked potato, and a crisp salad, all for the low price of $7.95. The meal was certainly a value, especially along with the friendly, efficient attention of my server, Alison.

During the day Sideouts Bar &

Eatery has the comfortable atmosphere of a neighborhood sports bar, with 15 TV's broadcasting sports or local news, a pool table in the corner, and seating for lunchtime patrons. At night it's a popular club with tables removed to uncover the dance floor.

Outside is yet another story. Welcome to the beach, where you can enjoy a meal or drink on the outdoor patio and bar while watching leagues play on the 5 beach volleyball courts, or catching a game of horseshoes, dodge ball, or baggo.

Sideouts Bar & Eatery also adjoins the 20 lane, 3D Bowl, which co-owner Jerry Delaurentis said his family started in 1960. He added that his father and he opened Sideouts in 1991. According to Jerry, since then Sideouts has become the number one outdoor beach volleyball facility in the Midwest."

Delaurentis noted that they also "cater to parties from children to adults." With several food and drink packages to choose from, "they can rent any or all of the facilities from bowling to our private party room."

So however you go, be prepared to let the good times roll.

Words for 2008

Voted already? Then learn some new words.

Gateway grub: A decadent food that leads the eater to even more sinful foods. The enormous slice of supreme pizza was only a gateway grub. It led me down a path to the vending machine, sucking up my daily calorie count.

Slobbophobia: The fear of hearing the doorbell when the house is a pigsty. When I heard a knock at the door, my slobbophobia caused me to close the door to the messy basement and throw the dirty dishes into the garage before answering. Then I tried to pretend the house had been clean for days.

Stadogitties: The large balls of snow that cling to the ears and faces of long-haired dogs when they play in the snow. My aunt's shih tzu's beard was covered with stadogitties.

Shoebaccas: Fur-covered boots that seem very impractical, except to, I don't know, wookies. The shoebaccas were covered by stompcicles by the time the fashionista crossed the parking lot.

Felarm: The cat that stands on your neck at 4 a.m. because - orange alert - one of her 19 food bowls is empty. I would have slept in, but I was awakened by the felarm.

Polunatic: That person who purposely steers the conversation toward the 2008 election so he or she can shriek about the inadequacies of the candidate he or she hates. I was trapped in the corner by a polunatic at the party.

Netflixion: The condition of being obsessed with mail DVD clubs. My Netflixion causes me to check the mailbox - sometimes seven or 23 times a day.

Shovelcise: The workout you do shoveling 11 inches of snow off your driveway, justifying ditching your gym time. I felt guilty for not working out Friday, but I did my shovelcise at 7 a.m.

Athlete looks for peace

Alex Kube was safe, sitting on a training table inside Huskie Stadium when gunshots penetrated the innocence of college life at Northern Illinois.

Soon there were people banging on doors, regular students and teammates looking for shelter, an escape from the chaos.

For the next two hours, with the campus on lockdown, with Kube sealed inside Huskie Stadium, the former Cary-Grove athlete and current NIU football team safety's mind raced.

The next day's lifting session and the weekend's running program did not matter.

The treatment he was there to get, a regular part of an off-season regimen aimed at making him faster and stronger, meant nothing right now because a haunting thought kept rattling through his head.

"All my classes are in that room," Kube said, referring to Cole Hall, the building on the DeKalb campus where five fellow students were killed and 16 others were injured by a lone gunman about 3 p.m. Thursday. "That's my room. People died."

Three of Kube's four classes this semester are inside Cole Hall. He was there from 11 a.m. Thursday morning until 12:15 p.m. From 12:30 until about 1:45, he was right next door.

"We couldn't go to class? We couldn't just learn in peace? Is that what we've come to? It's crazy around here," Kube said. "It shocked me. It was terrible. I was angry. It made me mad for someone to do this."

At that moment, he was no longer a football player leading the privileged life of a college athlete.

He was, like everyone else, a scared, angry college kid.

At that moment, he was not a strong safety preparing himself to impress his new coach, to lift a once-proud football program up from the depths.

He was, like everyone else, a college kid, one whose parents were terrified because cell-phone service was out and they could not reach their child, could not hear his voice and make sure he was alive.

"Football is my life, but it's something that we have to put aside," he said. "This is real life."

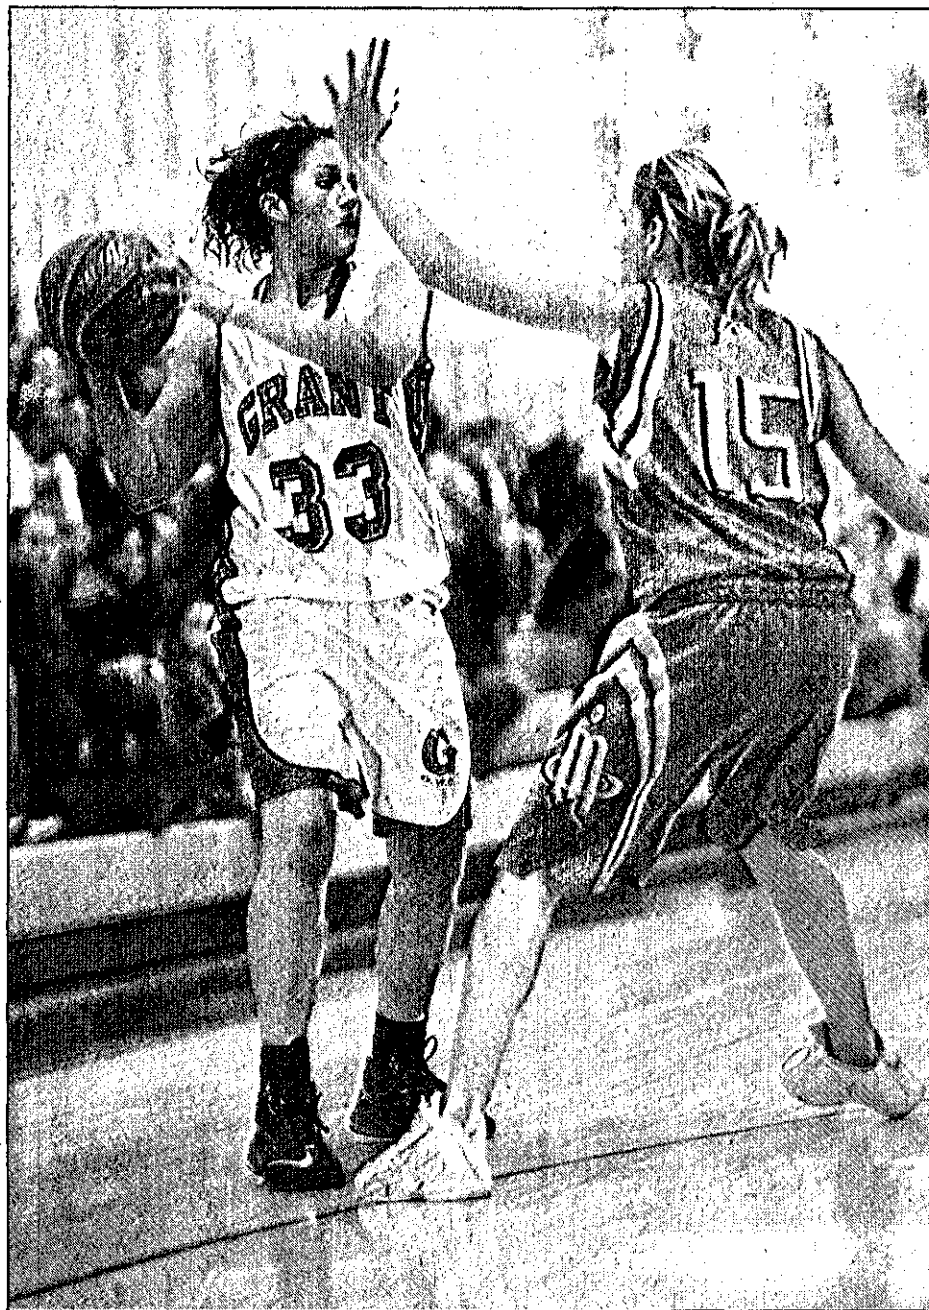

"I'm going home tomorrow morning. You don't want to be around here. My parents were freaking out. Everybody's parents were freaking out. Nobody's cell phones were working. Just crazy."

Kube and classmates and coaches scrambled through the stadium looking for land-lines to call their families, friends, and teammates.

Bulldog goes out with a bang

Grant senior Jamie Swanson (33) looks to pass over Mundelein's JJ Sawchuk in the IHSA Class 4A Stevenson Regional final at Stevenson High School in Lincolnshire. Mundelein won 63-52.

Grant senior breaks 1,000

By STEVE PETERSON
speterson@nwnewsgroup.com

FOX LAKE - There were 30 seconds left in the regional final clash with Mundelein, and Grant head coach Tom Oeffling asked Jamie Swanson a question.

"He asked if I wanted to come out of the game, but I said no," Swanson said.

Swanson finished with 22 points in a 63-52 loss that ended her career and fellow seniors that had brought such success to the Fox Lake school. She and others were visibly upset after the loss in the IHSA Class 4A Stevenson Regional final.

But it took only minutes to sink in what the group had accomplished.

More than 70 wins, four straight Prairie Division titles, a regional title last year, and a run of 20-win seasons that had been common place at a school.

"We came out slow. We were rattled and had some turnovers. I am glad we left it all on the court, and Autumn Gaylor hit that three-pointer at the end. It was her first three-pointer," Swanson said.

Swanson's hustle and talent were on display that night. From the opening tip to the final buzzer, she was rebounding well, going to the basket, diving for loose ball after loose ball.

She had become the school's leading scorer in the process, and looks to continue her hoops career next fall.

But a very important part of Swanson and the rest of the team's life came to an end this Valentine's Day.

It was coach Tom Oeffling's final game.

"I have never had him for class, but he has been such a great, awesome coach and friend," Swanson said.

Swanson said that the team knew of Oeffling's change at Grant. Oeffling has been an administrator who was allowed to coach one more year.

Just about a month earlier, it was a proud moment for the Swanson family.

The rather routine game with North Chicago had ended, but there was still a few more chores to do for Swanson.

Swanson, with an especially marked basketball, posed with her parents, coaches and family members. She had just become the school's latest 1,000-point girls basketball scorer.

"She would have been happy to score zero points and have us win. She is a team player and always has been, almost to a fault," Oeffling said.

Boothe keeps racking in the points

Warren senior reaches 2,000 point mark

By STEVE PETERSON
speterson@nwnewsgroup.com

GURNEE - Sarah Boothe smiles when the subject of freshman year is brought up.

"The team leaders were very welcoming to me, but I was nervous and tried to stay out of the way," the Warren girls basketball star said.

Boothe scored 24 points as Warren dominated Palatine from minute one in a 42-19 win in the first round of the Blue Devils own regional. Boothe also had 10 rebounds, four blocks, two steals and an assist.

Warren, 27-2, won the IHSA Class 4A Warren Regional.

Boothe said that the team is very determined to end the way it finished, as freshman year brought an Elite Eight bid.

Warren held Palatine to 17 percent shooting and forced 21 turnovers while committing 13. Boothe had 14 of the Blue Devils' first 18 points.

"Sarah has gotten stronger, and like any athlete, it is confidence. Not to take anything away from the boys, but she would be one of the bigger players in a boys game," John Stanczykiewicz said.

Stanford-bound Boothe is more than about hoops, even though she has been playing since 5.

Her mom and dad moved their three children to Gurnee then, and Gurnee basketball fans have been grateful ever since.

"It is the camaraderie and the team chemistry. We're so close," Boothe said.

Sarah Boothe
Warren girls basketball center

As for the classroom, Boothe said she enjoys history and English the most.

Boothe, 6-foot-5, gained the 2,000-point mark in the regional final, as Warren sought a bid at the Mundelein sectional.

Boothe is especially glad for the opportunities other players on the team have next year, as well as her well documented Cardinal future.

Senior Lori Shaw will attend University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, Erin Norwood and Shana Shepherd are considering college offers.

"Megan Wozniak has really improved her defense," Boothe said of the fellow senior, who is 5-foot-11. "She did a great job on Fenwick's Liston."

Before each game, the Warren faithful shout, "Boothe," of course, in honor of her talents. Boothe had 1,993 career points before the regional final.

"It's amazing," Shepherd said of Boothe. "We had great intensity versus Grant in the NSC title game."

Montemayor, Lund
stand out at state

By STEVE PETERSON
speterson@nwnewsgroup.com

CHAMPAIGN — Izzy Montemayor topped his own prediction at the state Class AA individual wrestling meet.

"I want to make it to the podium," he said at the sectional meet.

Montemayor nearly became the fourth Grant High individual state champion.

He made it to the finals at 125, but fell to junior Tony Ramos of Glenbard North in a 3-1 match.

Grant's Montemayor and Grayslake Central's Ryan Lund at 135 secured placing in their weight classes at the IHSA Class AA state individual finals at the University of Illinois-Urbana/Champaign. Both are seniors.

Lund gained sixth. Lund was one of six Fox Valley Conference wrestlers to make the quarterfinals.

Montemayor gained his 40th win of the season in the thrilling one-point win in the semis.

Matt Holmes of Lakes also made it to the quarterfinals, but lost to Jimmy Chase of Glenbard North, 8-1. Holmes won a consolation round battle 8-4. Holmes won a match, but was ousted in a bid for a medal in a close 6-4 decision at 130 to Andrew Zobac of Canton.

The shocker of the day came when Grant sophomore Lee Munster, 140, lost a one-point decision in the quarters.

Munster had downed Brian Epp of Nequa Valley 21-6 on a tech fall. Munster came back to win in the consolation round.

Swanson not only one to reach 1,000

• SWANSON

"She is one of the best players in the state. She scored 1,000 points in three years, and her numbers would have been greater, but a lot of our games were lopsided [wins]," the coach added.

"I would like to thank my coaches," Swanson said. "I wanted to get 1,000, but more importantly, for us to win the game. We played really good defense. We practice so hard against each other."

Grant's senior hit the thousand point mark on a three point shot in the first half in the 76-34 win on Jan. 19.

She had scored 20 points the night before in a 55-38 win over Willowbrook.

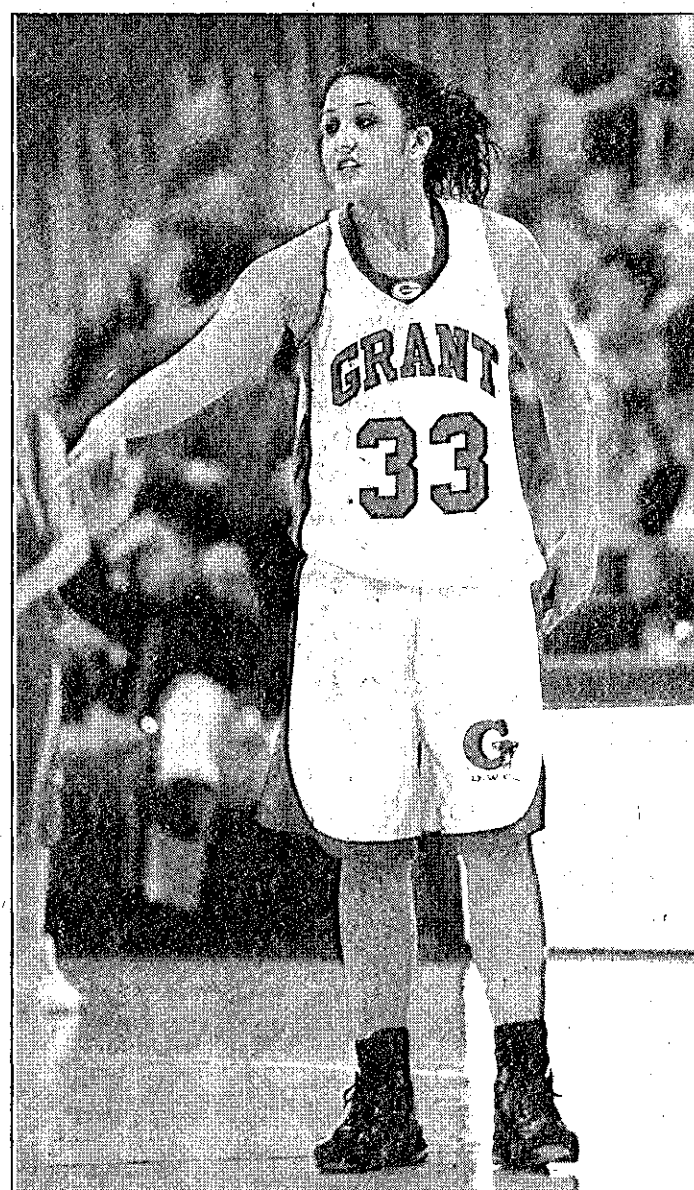

Swanson became Grant's second 1,000-point hoops player this year, as Mike Shields made the benchmark for the boys team earlier.

Swanson continued the trend to do her best in the biggest games.

She scored 22 points in the 54-39 regional opening win over Stevenson that gave Grant a chance for back-to-back regional titles.

Grant led by one entering the fourth quarter after a big comeback from a 12-point deficit.

Swanson even managed a good game when all was going astray in the NSC title loss to Warren.

Grant senior Jamie Swanson plays in the IHSA Class 4A Stevenson Regional final at Stevenson High School in Lincolnshire.

Inside a place where crowds roar on autumn Saturdays, where bands play and cheerleaders tumble — where loud noise is encouraged — all anybody wanted to hear now was one quiet whisper that said, "Yes, I'm alive."

More people came to the stadium, not looking for joy, not looking for the few hours of distraction that sports offers. Inside this place where games are played, they sought something more meaningful than a touch-down or a laugh.

They sought safety. "People just kept showing up," Kube said. "I mean, it's the safest place on campus."

Together for the next two hours, they stared at a TV, at this surreal scene, this unimaginable horror, unfolding outside their windows, on streets and sidewalks that they walked every day.

"We watched the news," Kube said. "We hoped and prayed that it wasn't anybody on my team, and hoping that anybody who did get hurt wasn't going to be hurt that bad."

Classes are canceled today. None were scheduled for Monday because of President's Day. Perhaps Tuesday or Wednesday everyone will return — to classes, to lifting weights, to getting treatment.

"I don't know," he said quietly. "It's going to be awkward for people [to go back into that room]. People are still scared."

"I just want to get out of here."

He wanted to go back home where it was safe because this place that was supposed to be safe wasn't anymore. He wanted to go back home because this place that was supposed to allow him to ask questions and learn and grow, had now left him with a new question, one he likely would ask his entire life.

"I'm still in shock, really," he said before a long pause. "What if I would have been there?"

Are your floors making you sick?

(MS) — Indoor air quality is a growing concern for homeowners, and testing has indicated that the air many people breathe indoors may be poorer than outdoor air. With more concern than ever about the pollutants in our environment, that "new carpet smell" might take on a more serious meaning.

The causes are varied, but volatile organic compounds (VOCs) are some of the most common contributors to indoor air pollution. VOCs can be found in many household products including paints and lacquers, plywood, particleboard, adhesives, paint strippers, insulation, paneling, and flooring.

Thanks to misinformation, many people believe that carpeting and rugs are a big contributor to poor indoor air. This actually isn't the case. "Carpet is a safe, cost-effective and fashionable choice for many indoor settings and may in fact contribute to removing pollutants from the air," says David Forman, marketing director for Nourison, a leader in today's floor covering market.

According to the Carpet and Rug Institute (CRI), carpet is one of the lowest emitters of volatile organic compounds in the home. And companies like Nourison are making strides to make their products ever safer for consumers, reducing indoor air pollution.

A Green Choice

CRI offers in-depth testing programs, called Green Label and Green Label Plus, to identify healthier carpet and rug options. A Green Label indicates that a rug or carpet (plus, cushioning and adhesives) is emitting the lowest level of VOCs possible and indicates that a product is one of the industry's best for indoor air quality. This year, CRI has certified dozens of broadloom collections from Nourison. Certification by Green Label Plus.

In order to earn and maintain Green Label Plus certifications, carpet and adhesives undergo a three tier testing process (initial, quarterly and annually), to monitor continued compliance with the program's requirements. Products are tested for emission levels of VOCs and dozens of chemicals and adhesives, and only those that meet stringent test levels are awarded Green Label Plus certification.

Nourison's Collections identified for the very best indoor air quality include a number of signature collections, as well as new introductions Harmony, Liteage, Allure, Majesty, Monet, Paradise, Renoir, Melody, Da Vinci, Rembrandt and Madison.

Selecting the best type of replacement window for your home

(MS) — So you've decided to replace your rotted, leaky windows. That decision was relatively easy considering new windows provide returns through energy cost savings and even greater returns in an increased home value. You've made a wise decision.

With the range of replacement window options available, however, your decisions have just begun. Do you want to replace the whole window? What about the interior or exterior trim? Do you need to replace only the sash — the glass and its casing — rather than the entire frame? Are you doing the work yourself or will you hire a contractor to help? Do you want to buy the windows from the same place that will install them? And then there are the multitude of options and features on windows to consider.

"With the replacement window models available today," said Jeff Kibler, brand manager for Peachtree Doors & Windows, "homeowners can replace as little or as much as they'd like — from just the glass or sash to the entire window and exterior trim. The various options can take the project from a relatively easy do-it-yourself task to a full-scale, contractor-level project."

Accurate Measurements

Measuring for replacement windows is one of the most critical parts of the project. Very few homes have off-the-shelf-size windows but instead require windows sized to match existing window openings. A measurement off by only an inch could mean the replacement part may not fit the window frame. In the case of a full replacement window, an inaccurate measurement may result in the need to cut into interior sheetrock and exterior siding in order to accommodate the window. Always double check your measurements or have another person verify your measurements.

Sash Kits

Double hung windows are the easiest windows to update. With a sash replacement kit, homeowners can replace just the operable part of the window by inserting new sash into an existing window frame and jamb. In about an hour per window, you can have new double-hung windows that operate effortlessly, stay open without ugly props, and tilt in for easy cleaning. Many sash kits include features of today's new construction windows such as smooth operating balance systems, high performance glass, and decorative grilles. You can also choose the material from which you'd like your new sash: all vinyl, vinyl exterior/wood interior, primed wood and aluminum-clad wood. Easy-to-follow instructions make replacing a sash a manageable do-it-yourself project.

Replacements windows can update a home's looks and energy efficiency relatively quickly.

Pocket Windows

If you have casement (crank-out) windows or rotten jambs in your double-hung windows, pocket replacement windows can update the look and performance of your windows. These windows fit into the existing window frame, leaving interior and exterior trim intact. Do-it-yourselfers can find pocket windows in a variety of materials in tilt-in single and double hung, casement and awning, sliding, and picture window styles.

Peachtree's 700 Series extruded aluminum-clad replacement windows can improve a home's energy performance and interior and exterior design with its many options. Because it was designed for replacement situations, you'll find fewer installation hassles and less disturbance to your home's siding, walls or existing interior and exterior trim than if you used a full replacement window.

Kibler said, "The 700 Series replacement windows have built-in features and options to save remodelers and window installers time — things like three sill angles and exterior accessories to remedy gaps between the new window and the existing frame. Each window is also shipped with the shims, color-coordinated adhesive and screws needed for installation. No more last-minute trips to the store to keep you from finishing the project."

Full Replacement

There are advantages to replacing an entire window. Perhaps you prefer casement windows and your home has all double-hung units. Maybe the frames on your windows have serious rot. Or, you want to replace your wood windows with a lower maintenance alternative like vinyl or aluminum clad wood. These situations call for a more complete replacement choice, which means most homeowners will need a professional contractor or window installation firm to help complete the project.

New construction windows can be adapted for retrofit applications by simply ordering the windows without the nailing fin that aids in quick and secure installations where siding is not yet present. Most windows for full tear-out situations, including Peachtree's 700 Series for new construction, are sized in 1/8" increments to accommodate whatever your opening.

The replacement window option you choose will depend on the extent to which your current windows are damaged or rotted. Sash replacement kits or pocket windows are sufficient in some cases; others require a more complete replacement window. The decisions are many, the returns considerable.

If you'd like free instructions on how to measure for replacement sash, contact Peachtree at (800) 732-2499.

Northern Air Systems sets the standard for service

By LESLIE GLAZIER-WERNER

If your heating and cooling system needs service or replacement, you can expect superior service and complete satisfaction when you call Northern Air Systems. "I'll do whatever it takes to make the customer happy," said owner Wayne Wodach. "Customer service and quality is everything."

After 4 years of trade school in sheet metal work and 19 years working for other companies, Wayne said he felt he could provide better service by going out on his own.

He said he started Northern Air Systems in 1984 wanting, "to be small and just go out and do a good job." However, business has been booming ever since, thanks to the company's versatility and quality workmanship. Wayne said he now has 14 highly trained and certified servicemen and sheet metal workers with a wide variety of residential and commercial work experience.

In addition to servicing and installing furnaces, air conditioning systems, thermostats, and humidifiers, Wayne said they do boilers, radiant heating, snowmelt, restaurant ventilation hoods, and zone systems. He added that they have done the HVAC (heating, ventilation, and air conditioning) work for projects large and small, such as animal hospitals, the airport, a shopping center, an 110,000 sq. ft. company addition, and large homes.

Northern Air Systems carries brand name products known for their quality and dependability, like Trane furnaces and air conditioners, and Honeywell thermostats and humidifiers. Commercial products include Viessmann boilers, Greenbeck exhaust fans, and Tekmar controls. Wayne noted that "we go to school all year round" training to use these products.

"If you like my price, you'll love my work," Wodach said regarding his reasonable prices. Northern Air Systems also offers financing by American General and Trane. "I never sacrifice quality and workmanship to save money," Wayne added. So it's no surprise that 90% of the company's work comes from customer referrals. With a solid reputation for superior service, including 24-hour emergency service, Northern Air Systems is the best choice for your heating and cooling needs.

CLC Jazz Ensembles present Feb. 24 concert

"The Best of CLC Jazz" will be featured at a Jazz Sunday Concert at the Mainstage Theatre in the James Lumber Center for the Performing Arts at 4 p.m. on Feb. 24. The concert will highlight the best jazz songs performed at CLC since Dr. Michael Flack joined the College of Lake County in fall 2004.

The award-winning Monday Night Jazz Ensemble, directed by Flack, will perform the same tunes they will be playing as the "Grand Finale Guest Artist" at the Jazz in the Meadows Festival at Rolling Meadows High School on Feb. 23. The festival is now in its 23rd year as the largest high school jazz event/competition in the Midwest. It attracts students from more than 65 high school and junior high jazz programs from seven Midwestern states.

This may be the first time that a community college jazz band has been the featured guest, according to Christopher Buti, director of bands at Rolling Meadows.

The Feb. 24 concert at CLC was originally billed as a tribute to drummer Buddy Rich, however the award-winning Monday Night Jazz Ensemble will present the same program it will be performing at Jazz in the Meadows. The program will include "Magic Flea" by Sammy Nestico, "If I Could" by Pat Metheny, "One Note Samba" by Antonio Carlos Jobim, "The Song Is You" by Jerome Kern, "Central Park West" by John Coltrane, "How Deep Is The Ocean?" by Irving Berlin, "Carnival" by Stan Smith and "It Might As Well Be Spring" by Richard Rodgers. The CLC Tuesday Night Jazz Ensemble, directed by Dave Hibbard, will also perform.

The concert will be held in the Mainstage Theatre of the James Lumber Center for the Performing Arts on the Grayslake Campus. Tickets are $5 for the general public and $4 for CLC students/staff/Alumni Association members/Seniors 65+ (price includes a $1 JLC restoration fee per ticket). Tickets are available at the CLC Box Office in the James Lumber Center at 19351 W. Washington St. Tickets may be purchased by phone at (847) 543-2300 or at www.clcillinois.edu/tickets. The Box Office opens 90 minutes before the concert begins.

NFL founder George Halas, others to be honored at first Sports Faith Hall of Fame induction

The First Annual Sports Faith Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony and Benefit will be held on February 23, 2008. Chicago Bears Board Member Pat McCaskey and Sports Faith International will host the Induction Ceremony from 12 Noon to 1:30 P.M. at the CHICAGO BEARS HALAS HALL, 1000' Football Drive, Lake Forest, Illinois and be followed by a luncheon reception at the DEERPATH INN, 255 East Illinois Road, Lake Forest from 2:00 P.M. - 5:00 P.M.

The 2008 inductees will be the founder of the NFL and the Chicago Bears, George "Papa Bear" Halas, former NFL wide receiver and Bears assistant coach Danny Abramowicz, and former New York Giants right guard and Super Bowl champion Chris Godfrey. These inductees are the real winners in the game of life who applied the same energy, grit and commitment to sports as they do to sharing their faith for the greater glory of God and the benefit of humanity. Relevant Radio contributor Father Frank Hoffman will offer the invocation while former Fox Sports Net Chicago Sportscaster John Morales will serve as master of ceremonies.

Sports Faith International is a media initiative dedicated to utilizing traditional and new media to showcase the connection between sports and faith. Programs for Catholic and mainstream media networks will feature some of the biggest names in the world of sports. Sports have been called a metaphor for life that can teach perseverance, discipline, loyalty, trust, dedication, and fair play. The shows will serve as a platform to discuss the many virtues and life-lessons that can be learned from sports. NFL Founder George Halas once said, "No one who ever gave his best ever regretted it."

Veteran bilingual television and radio sportscaster John Morales will lead an integrated media campaign for Sports Faith International, building on his previous experience as the visionary, co-producer, writer and narrator of the award winning documentary film Champions of Faith:

Baseball Edition. With the co-operation of Pat McCaskey of the Chicago Bears, Sports Faith International plans to create and produce FOOTBALL AND FAITH: Gridiron Heroes, a documentary film focusing on the intersection of football and faith at the professional, collegiate and high school level.

His Eminence Francis Cardinal George, O.M.I.

Archbishop of Chicago, and President of the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops, will be serving on the Board of Advisors in an Honorary Capacity, and joins other notables including pitching great Jeff Suppan, of the Milwaukee Brewers, MVP of the 2006 National League Championship Series, and Jack McKeon, retired manager of the 2003

World Series Florida Marlins and two time winner of the National League Manager of the Year.

Sports Faith International also plans to develop a new national radio show, SPORTS FAITH WEEKLY, which will feature prominent Catholic and other Christian athletes and coaches who will discuss the importance of virtue and faith in their careers.

Individual tickets for the Induction Ceremony and Hall of Fame Luncheon and Benefit are $100 per person. VIP seating for the Induction Ceremony is $250 per person and is limited to the first 150 respondents. For more information on the event or to reserve tickets, visit www.SportsFaithHallofFame.com or call (847) 739-3361.

Eileen Ivers, former 'Riverdance' fiddler, comes to CLC

Celebrate St. Patrick's Day early with Eileen Ivers and her band, Immigrant Soul. They will perform at 7 p.m. on Sunday, March 9 in the Mainstage Theatre of the James Lumber Center for the Performing Arts at the College of Lake County. Winner of nine All-Ireland fiddle championships and former fiddler for "Riverdance," Ivers is a boldly imaginative artist who is considered one of the great pioneers in the Celtic and World music genres. With her band, Ivers combines a spirited mix of African and Latin percussion to create a tradition-rich yet inventive sound that delves into pop, jazz and world genres.

Eileen Ivers has performed with the London Symphony Orchestra, the National Symphony, the Boston Pops, The Chieftains, Hall and Oates, Afrocelts and Patti Smith. She is a founding member of Cherish the Ladies, a group that performed at CLC a year ago.

"Nobody does it better than Eileen Ivers," said Marvin Hamlish, National Symphony and Pittsburgh Symphony Principal Pops conductor. Ivers was called "the Jimi Hendrix of the violin" by the New York Times.

Immigrant Soul includes Tommy McDonnell, lead vocals, blues harmonica, percussion; Buddy Connolly, accordions, whistles, keyboard; Greg Anderson, guitar; bouzouki, background vocals; and Leo Traversa, bass guitar. The band's St. Patrick's Tour 2008 extends from February to April throughout the U.S. and Canada. More information on Eileen Ivers and Immigrant Soul is available at www.eileenivers.com.

Tickets are $29/33/$41 for the general public (discounts available), $13 for children under 12 and $16 for CLC students. Tickets are available at the CLC Box Office, by calling (847) 543-2300 or at www.clcillinois.edu/tickets.
